ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An inkjet recording element comprises a permeable microvoided polylactic-acid-containing layer having interconnecting voids. The invention is also directed to method of using such recording elements in an inkjet printing process and to sheets useful for making such inkjet recording elements and other media.